THE HYDE OUT

This Sunday will be a first for me. I will be celebrating Father's Day as a father for the first time. Although I do believe a lot of the holidays we have are simply created to generate money based on an emotion (Father's Day being one), it is a nice thought and I will enjoy the day. Truth be told, I never thought I would be a dad. In my mid-20s I was sure I would be single forever. Even last year after we knew we were having a child, I wasn't really sure I would enjoy being a parent to a newborn. But as often is the case, my plans changed ... did they ever! I enjoy being Jax's dad more than almost anything I've ever done in my life. It is a true joy and honor to see him grow everyday.

There is some of my own story expressed in the scripture we will be looking at this Sunday. People make plans and God changes those plans for the better. It is a great thought in theory, but it can be an even more powerful thought in practice. If we believe that God's way is better than our way and practice it, look out! If we really did work to take care of the orphans and widows; if we really did not repay evil with evil; or if we really did turn the other cheek, go the extra mile, or love without judgment, our lives and churches may just look a little different than they do currently. The church has been making plans for a little over a century now; a lot of those plans have included 'growth plans' and expansion of a certain brand of any particular church. God may have other plans, and if we seek those out ... look out!
